

The dotted lines represent the boundaries between two lithospheric plates. The arrows represent the directions that the plates are moving.

Draw two small arrows within each circle, one on each side of the dotted line, to show the direction of motion of each plate.

What type of plate boundary is represented by each circle?

Choices: divergent, convergent, transform

